

Senior & Terminally Ill Pet Release Form

Your pet is very important to us, and their welfare is our top priority. We want to assure you that every effort is made to make their stay with us as safe, comfortable, and routine as possible.

However, when older and terminally ill pets are boarded, their routine is disrupted when they are removed from their home environment. This disruption can subject them to unforeseen stresses. This additional stress can contribute to the weakening of the immune system and makes your pet more susceptible to transmissible disease. This stress also has the potential to cause many latent physical conditions and disorders to become active and potentially life-threatening.

Although every effort is made to contact you first, in the best interest of your pet, we request your permission to obtain medical care should a situation arise that we feel warrants immediate veterinary assistance. Should we be unable to speak with you, please indicate below what measures you would like us to take on your behalf:
